

BROTHER BILL'S HELPING HAND

The Confide Research team recently volunteered at Brother Bill's Helping Hand in Dallas. This nonprofit organization operates a unique grocery store where patrons in need can shop for essentials free of charge, using carts and bags just like at a regular store. During our time there, we assisted in stocking shelves, bagging groceries, and preparing deliveries for home-bound individuals. The opportunity to contribute was open to volunteers of all ages and abilities, emphasizing the inclusivity of their mission.

Brother Bill's Helping Hand serves the Dallas community by providing life's essentials, fostering education, and nurturing relationships through faith, family, fitness, and finance. With a legacy spanning 81 years, this organization has witnessed a growing demand for its services. In 2018, the community clinic welcomed over 8,000 visitors, while more than 300 families sought assistance with food every week. The impact of their work is evident in the increasing number of individuals benefiting from their support.
