Tusk Trust

This summer, I raised money for Tusk Trust to help support the vast amount of community projects they have in countries across Africa. I traveled to Kenya to see their good work first hand. Tusk focuses on conservation and preservation of the natural habitats, as well as community support. This involves anti-poaching initiatives, school scholarships, technology education, and health care. Through their partnerships with local communities and companies, there is significant progress, providing greater protection for over 70 million hectares of land and more than 40 different threatened species, while benefiting more than 7,500,000 people.
